Problem:

The loss of two major customers meant severe problems for the owner of a small machine tool company. Losing out to a competitor's underbidding not only hurt corporate morale, it put a major strain on the company's financial position. Customer revenues were down 50% and the bank was threatening foreclosure. Bankruptcy loomed.

Solution:

Within five days, Hamilton presented the company with a factoring program that elevated cash flow issues. In addition, Hamilton enabled a forbearance agreement with the bank by agreeing to provide third party payment discipline.

The Hamilton Group is a leader within the factoring industry offering flexible cash flow solutions for America's small and mid-sized business community.
